

MERIDIAN AUDIO RETURNS TO ISE 2026

January 2026

PRESS RELEASE

Meridian Audio Returns to ISE 2026

19/01/2026 | UK – Meridian Audio returns to ISE with a clear message for integrators: high-performance audio should fit the room, speed delivery, and simplify control.

At Fira de Barcelona (Stand 2D300) from 3-6 February, the British engineering company will unveil the 2026 editions of its flagship architectural loudspeakers, alongside a new HDMI controller designed to make TV-to-Meridian installations far more straightforward.

Reference DSP730 & DSP750 In-Wall Loudspeakers

Meridian will showcase its 2026-edition DSP730 in-wall loudspeaker which, along with its similarly revised DSP750 stablemate, offers the custom integration market Meridian's highest performing in-wall loudspeakers to date.

Featuring an easy-to-accommodate 100mm mounting depth for straightforward installation, both models harness a suite of Meridian technologies designed to deliver room-filling sound while blending seamlessly into walls and ceilings.

UHD121 HDMI Controller

The UHD121 provides simple integration between a TV and Meridian loudspeakers. A single HDMI connection takes care of audio and control signals, allowing the TV and speakers to switch on together and share volume control commands - all from the TV remote.

Clients can experience the benefits of Meridian's signature sound from their TV and its HDMI-connected sources with the convenience of a familiar control interface at their fingertips. For integrators, it means cleaner jobs, quicker handovers and fewer callbacks.

Zone Control & Compact Amplification

Alongside the UHD121, Meridian will display its 218 Zone Controller and 251 Powered Zone Controller, both widely used to drive discreet multi-room and architectural installations. The pair demonstrate Meridian's approach to CI system design: compact form factors, simple handover to control systems, and performance that scales from residential media rooms to boutique commercial spaces.

Design & Specification Service

Meridian's Design & Specification Service will be on hand to provide tailored audio solutions for complex projects. The service includes Meridian Select, offering an extensive range of loudspeaker colour options for custom installations.

Case studies will demonstrate how Meridian supports integrators in delivering premium audio across both residential and commercial applications.

Meet the Team

Jeremy Brown, International Sales Manager, and Barry Sheldrick, Director of Sales, will be available for appointments throughout the show. The extended AV EMEA team will provide product demonstrations and discuss partnership opportunities.

“Integrators want products that fit the brief, not just the rack.” said Jeremy Brown. “We’re focussed on performance you can live with, control that behaves as it should and support that keeps projects moving.”
